

Mild damage raises measured transfer; only total destruction of correspondence brings it to zero

